

To ask for all thy love

John Dowland

5

To ask for all thy love, and thy whole heart, 'Twere mad- ness. I do not He that re- ceiv- eth all, can have no more Than see- ing. My love by
You can- not ev- 'ry day give me your heart For mer- it; Yet if you Yet if you please, I'll find a bet- ter way, Than change them: For so a-sue, Nor can ad- mit (Fair- - - est) from you To have all, - length Of ev- 'ry hour, Ga- - - thers new strength, New growth, new - will, When yours doth go, You - - shall have still One to be- - lone Dear- est we shall Be - - one and one, An- o- ther's -

10

yet Who giv- - eth all hath no- thing to im- part, - But sad- - - ness.
flow'r. You must - have dai- ly new re- wards in store, - Still be- - - ing.
stow: For you - shall mine when yours doth hence de- part - In- her- - - it.
all. Let us - so join our hearts that no- thing may - Es- trange - - them.